Dade County Community Forest

A New Place for Families, Friends, and Future Generations to Enjoy the Outdoors

This project is a partnership between Dade County, Trust for Public Land, Georgia-Alabama Land Trust, Alliance for Dade, local partners, and Dade County community members.

What is a Community Forest?

A community forest is land that is protected and cared for by the community. Local residents help decide how the land is used and managed. It gives people a place to enjoy the outdoors while protecting clean water, wildlife, and the natural beauty of the area.

You Help Decide

This land is protected, but now the community gets to decide how it will be used and managed. Share your thoughts to help shape what this forest becomes.

Why Does It Matter?

Protect forests, wildlife, and clean water for our community.

Create new places to hike, explore, and enjoy the outdoors.

Provide opportunities for outdoor learning for children and families.

Support local jobs through tourism and outdoor recreation.

Create a lasting community resource that can be enjoyed for generations.

What matters most to you?

We Want to Hear From You!

- What do you want to see at the future community forest?
- What is important to you about your community?
- What questions do you have?

Homemade brand ALL the Fixin's achieves big-time growth with UGA SBDC support

In the South, “fixin” is a word packed with meaning whether someone is “fixin’ to” do something or serving a plate with “all the fixin’s.” For Janna Tucker, that familiar expression became the foundation of a growing specialty food business rooted in family, flavor, and entrepreneurship.

With guidance from the University of Georgia Small Business Development Center (UGA SBDC) at Georgia Southern University, Tucker transformed a small, home-based operation into a thriving multi-location business serving customers across southeast Georgia.

“In the South, ‘fixin’s’ is a word that you can use for a lot of different things,” said Tucker.
